Hi Yousef

Thank you for the quote very appreciated

It's definitely an expensive product but it's the best product for suicide deterrent application

It's important to not have a project that goes overbudget cause we all loose

I will talk to the contractor Monday or Tuesday and be strategic to make sure that this project goes forward and make sure that we but pyracell where it should be install, maybe there's low risk room that don't necessary need a pyracell.

My goal is to but as many pyracell as possible without compromising the overall project.

I understand that a larger unit are much more expensive that multiple small one, so yes I will make sure that there's no oversize one

The goal is that the pyracell brochure goes to the designer

I'll give you feedback next week

Have a happy memorial day weekend !!

Best regards
